THURSDAY, MARCH 2, 1899.

It is feared that the Pope has pneumonia and will not recover.

An Indianapolis man, Edward P. Thompson, has been appointed postmaster at Havana, Cuba.

The Hopkinsville convention will be held and Dempsey will have a walkover, so say his friends.

FRANK H. JOHNSON, Assistant State Auditor, is a leading candidate for the office of National Bank Examiner for Kentucky. He has twenty opponents.

An egg famine is reported in many parts of the country. Here is a chance for some wooden nutmeg manufacturer to swap off for a more profitable industry.

Another candidate for the Kentucky district judgeship, Judge Roland Burns, of Callettsburg, is announced. Attorney General Taylor has returned from Washington, but is said to be still in the race. And the end is not yet.

We have an interesting letter from Tom Finley describing the surroundings and comfortable condition of the Third Kentucky in Cuba. It is an interesting communication and will be published next week, having come too late for this issue.

The Sloss Iron and Steel Company, of Birmingham, Ala., have advanced the wages of their miners five per cent. The raise effects fifteen hundred men. The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, employing four thousand miners, will give a like advance. The advance is due to the upward movement of pig iron.

A suit has been brought by five stockholders of the Louisville Dispatch Publishing Co., asking for a receiver to be appointed to take charge of that company's affairs. The petition states that paper has been run at a loss averaging $1300 per month for several months past and that the company is insolvent and has been for some time.

The last weekly review of trade issued by R. G. Dunn & Co., tells of a most satisfactory condition of affairs in the business world. It says:

The situation is without precedent. Business has never been better on the whole, and in some great industries the gain is astonishing. Exports surpass last year's as much as imports, though the excess over import then was heavy. Failures are smaller than last year and smaller than in either of six years past.

It is in order now for some son-of-a-prophet to repeat the old saw that "when we get upon a gold basis the country will be ruined."

Third Kentucky.
Brig. Gen. J. C. Breckinridge, Inspector General of the United States Army, now in Cuba, has very highly complimented the Third Kentucky Volunteers. He said that if the Third kept to its present standard it would be mustered out with the distinction of being one of the very best regiments in the volunteer army. If the recent expressions of the Assistant Secretary of War are correct, the regiment will be recalled and disbanded before there is a chance to retrograde. The health of the regiment is reported excellent. Colonel Smith with the Second battalion received and escorted General Gomez, the chief of Cuban patriots, with his staff and escort, upon his arrival at Cardenas, which was the beginning of the Cuban triumphal procession and entry into the city of Havana, a historic episode in Cuban affairs and hence in the affairs of this country.

Vaccinate Him.
Somebody on the editorial force of the Hopkinsville Messenger fears up on the hind legs of his "personal liberty," and says "vaccination is a crime and compulsory vaccination a penitentiary offense." A small-pox goblin will get him if he don't look out. The silliness of that writer's reference to "vile and unhealthy vaccine virus, and when it is remembered that there are a thousand chances that the virus was taken from some one suffering from chronic complaint, it is no wonder that "parents in many instances object to risking the lives of their children" through its use; the utter foolishness of this nonsense must be apparent to all who read. That writer must have been—if ever—vaccinated in his early youth before science had made progress, and when the rule was to use the virus of the scab from the nearest neighbor's sore arm.

The world moves if the individual does not. That old, crude way is entirely out of date with the medical profession and has no part in vaccination, compulsory or otherwise, in Louisville or elsewhere, when administered by a present day physician.

Besides vaccination that writer needs inoculation of another sort, but it might deprive the fool-killer of a job. His friends should look after him.

Forage in the South.

While much gratuitous, but no doubt well-meant advice has been given the Southern farmer regarding the diversification of crops, particular stress has been laid upon the desirability of his producing his own and his cattle's food instead of buying it in the West.

With cotton selling as it did last autumn, at the lowest price on record, this advice has of late become even more pointed. One of the latest announced contributions to this class of literature is now in preparation by the United States Department of Agriculture, entitled "Cowpeas," prepared by Mr. Jared G. Smith, Assistant Agriculturist of the department. This bulletin says that the South has as great an abundance of varieties of grasses and leguminous forage plants as any other section. There is, perhaps, greater need for the cultivation of leguminous crops than in the North. The soils are more liable to the rapid exhaustion of the available plant foods, because the washing of soluble salts goes on all the year. Soils can be most profitably built up by increasing the quantity of organic matter in them, and the quickest and cheapest way of doing this is by growing leguminous forage crops and feeding them on the farm, returning all the manure to the land.

The cowpea is to the South what alfalfa is to the West and red clover to the North—a forage plant well adapted to the region. The cowpea has been cultivated in the South for at least one hundred fifty years. The bulletin also describes the varieties of the plant, its power of increasing the fertility of the soil upon which it grows, and says there is no forage plant better adapted to the needs and conditions of Southern agriculture than this rank-growing little annual. The feeding value of the cowpea is very high, and the quality of the pork raised on it is fine.

Mentally Impoverished and Morally Feeble.

From the Courier Journal.

There were only thirty-four men in the House of Representatives so mentally impoverished or so morally feeble as to insist upon national repudiation and dishonor by voting against the appropriation of $20,000,000 for Spain, as pledged in the treaty which we have formally negotiated and ratified. And there was only one man who had the hardihood to make a speech glorifying his course. It was charitable that his speech was absolutely ignored by the House is discussing the bill, but it is marvelous even in these days of petty politics, that there are thirty-four men in Congress capable of voting against the appropriation. A "debt of honor," even among moral bankrupts, is considered sacred.

Manila Revenue.

Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn made public last week the following general statement of receipts at the port of Manila, Philippine Islands, from August 13, 1898, the date of occupation of said port by the military forces of the United States, to December 31, 1898: Funds seized upon occupation, $534,087. Internal revenue—August, $311; September, $19,760; October, $36,158; November, $26,601; December, $11,904; total, $96,765. Customs—August, $94,237; September, $383,157; October, $164,621; November, $225,590; December, $308,318; total $1,144,924. Provost Court fines, $6,756; water rents, $2,256; markets, $8,380; matadero, $13,845; cemeteries, $2,547; licenses, $7,179; Captain of the Port, collections, $1,094; sales, Subsistence Department, $1,890; sales, Quartermaster's Department, $34; refund of unexpended balance of appropriation, $54; grand total $1,819,813.

NEIGHS AND BRAYS OF THE "HOSS EDITOR."

"Hark from the Toombs."

Of 218 indictments returned by the grand jury at Cadiz last week, 180 was for "selling liquor without license," which leads the man of nags to conclude that the slightest jungle feline figures conspicuously as a dram atist down in that corner of the deadening.

Circuit Court adjourned last Friday afternoon, after a session of nearly two weeks. Judge Cook left in the afternoon for his home in Murray and Col. Howell for Hopkinsville.

The grand jury wound up their business Thursday and adjourned, returning 218 indictments.—Cadiz Record.

The man of nags makes haste to offer his sincere heartfelt congratulations to Judge Cook, Col. Howell and the grand jury upon their providential hair breadth, "skin of the teeth" escape from this cyclone of indictments, which from its magnitude certainly menaced "all hands and the Cook." We commend the sagacity of the honored Judge and Colonel in striking immediately for taller timber, for it looks to a man up a tree like everything in that section was in imminent danger and the Judge of the culinary cognomen and his friend, the Colonel can hardly appreciate Howell they did to flee jury-diction.

The Paducah papers are trying to make it appear that the city uses two million gallons of water daily. Must be a mistake.—Murray Ledger.

It proves conclusively to the hoss editor that "they all take sugar in them," and Paducah is certainly a stirring place.

The hoss editor lifts his superannuated hat and makes his level best bow to his good friend, Mr. Hatch Whitfield, one of our most enterprising farmers of the Flat Creek section, for presenting us with the foot and talons of the largest gobbler ever raised in this county. Mr. Whitfield sold the fowl here last Christmas and it weighed twenty-eight pounds dressed, and had in life attained the weight of nearly forty pounds. The foot embraces that part of the leg between the foot and the knee or hock, and weighs, dried as it is, six and one half ounces and measures twelve inches from that joint to the end of the talon of the middle toe. That last claw may sound somewhat piscatorial, but the man of nags can exhibit his Hatch-it to skeptics. We always thought it bad taste for one to blow over their superior attainments, but we can't forbear remarking that owing to the kindness of Mr. Whitfield that the man of nags is certainly talon-ted above any of his friends or neighbors and will put his foot, we mean of course the one belonging to the late biped, among the curios in the public reading room.

On another footing we are put. Thanks to our neighbor, Hatch, By giving us a turkey's foot, We can come up to the scratch.

It is not often that the hoss editor explains anything that he has previously written, but we want to sorter modify a statement made in the Neighs and Brays column last week, to the effect that Mr. John Twyman's nag was killed by eating bran mixed fifty per cent with saw dust from Robinson's sawmill. While it is true that the bran was mixed in this proportion, it has since been satisfactorily ascertained that the critter's death was traceable to other causes and we always believed in dealing from the top of the deck and have no disposition whatever to impair the local value of Robinson's dust pile, we will give the plain cold blooded stubborn facts in the case without fear or favor.

It is true that Twyman did buy a bale of straw and a small sack of bran to fatten his horse; it is also true that he mixed the bran with saw dust. But now the scene changes, and other parties figure in the play. As John neither preaches nor practices that old saying of "Early to bed and early to rise," especially the latter clause, he made a covenant with his father-in-law, Isaiah Fox, to feed the nag, during the process of regeneration, and as John firmly believes in "conditional salvation," he gave the old man fifty cents to invest in "condition powders." The old man took the piece of silver and started down in town in good faith to make the purchase. He scrutinized the piece of Federal money and began meditating upon the "gold standard" and so engrossed did he become on this perplexing problem that he entered the nearest grocery and invested his half-dollar in "Gold Dust," a soapy cleaning powder, put up in four-pound boxes, which is stronger than Sampson with his hair on. He carried back four boxes and mixed their contents with the bran, and a few doses of this diabolical mixture of residuum cereal, ligneous fibre and pulvis soap soon terminated the earthly trials of this antiquated equine.

No more, alas, will he travel shafts. For Old Man Fox it seems, never knowned That even the Dust of Gold is death.

To those who walk in the "Middle of the Road."

The many friends of Mr. William Day fear that he is laboring under a mental failure, and their fears appear to be grounded upon the following circumstance: One night last week he insisted that his good wife should accompany him to a neighbor's on a short visit. After reaching the house of his friend, Mr. Day recalled that important business down town demanded his Scrofula.—Three years ago our son, now eleven, had a serious case of scrofula and erysipelas with dreadful sores, discharging and itching constantly. He could not walk. attention, so excusing himself to his friends and promising to call for his wife, he laid down; then he executed a blue streak for home, quaking because he could not give a ledge reason for his long absence. He was greatly surprised on reaching home to find his wife gone, but, thinking she had been called out in his absence to look after some sick person, he was preparing to go to bed when a tin pan fell from a shelf in the kitchen with a terrific clatter, and the window shutter rattled ominously. Very few men are entirely proof against superstition, and the cold chills raced up and down Mr. Day's spinal column like a lizard with a turkey after him, and seizing his hat he began a house-to-house canvass of that part of the city, braving bulldozers and risking shoogles, seeking a better remedy.

As a matter of course he visited nearly every house in that quarter before he found his wife, who was much worried over his prolonged absence. Explanations followed and Mr. Day was greatly humiliated over his absentmindedness. Of course the circumstance circulated like wild fire, and Mr. Day has suffered greatly at the hands of his friends.

And now he walks the streets And he shivers from all he meets

POLITICAL POINTS.

Barnett's Call for March 10.

"If nothing interferes, I will issue that call for the State Central Committee for about March 10," said Chairman C. M. Barnett, yesterday. "I will not issue the call, however, until it is certain that there will be no extra session of Congress, as it is the intention to allow for the attendance of Senator Deboe and other prominent Republicans at the State Capital, and I don't want to issue a call that will be interfered with by having the Senator and others called back to Washington to attend to Congressional business."—Courier Journal.

Squire Turpin, of Madison County, is surmising whether he will enter the race for Representative on a "Good Roads" platform.

Hon. J. M. Simmons, of the Bowling Green bar, is a candidate for State Senator from Warren, Allen and Edmonson.

Prof. James R. Alexander, of the Bowling Green Southern Normal School is mentioned as a probable candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Judge M. D. Brown, of Hopkinsville, is again candidate for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

A meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee has been called for Lexington March 8th, the object of which is announced to be the appointment of a member to succeed William Goebel, who was a member from the State at large.

Breckinridge Castleman is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Legislature from Louisville.

Hon. Geo. W. Jolly has declined to become an applicant for the Federal Judgeship to succeed Judge Bragg, resigned. Mr. Jolly favors Hon. Gus Willson, of Louisville.

Warner U. Grider, of Bowling Green, former Assistant Mine Inspector under Inspector C. J. Northwood, and recently with the First Kentucky Volunteers in Porto Rico, has been given the Democratic nomination for the Legislature from that city which constitutes a district of Warren County.

SENTIMENTS EXPRESSED IN MEMORY OF Mrs. James R. Rash by the Magazine Club.

The Magazine Club met last Thursday with Mrs. J. F. Ford. Misses Agnes Burr and Celeste Moore were the leaders. Miss Moore's subject was "Among the Dyaks" (Cosmopolitan). "The Newspaper, the Magazine and the Public" from Outlook was reviewed by Miss Burr.

After these interesting reports the roll was called, when it is customary for each member to respond by giving a current event. When this was done Mrs. Ford said it is fitting and in order that we should speak of one of our dear circle, who, since our last meeting, has passed from our sight and into the great beyond. How little did we foresee then that so soon one of us would be gone to that mysterious bourne. We shall miss our friend—always so cheerful, so appreciative of life and its blessings, of which she had her full share. Since the organization of the Club, four years ago, she has seldom missed a meeting, and though she could never overcome a natural timidity sufficiently make a formal report on articles, we felt more than compensated by her thorough sympathy and the mental alertness which enabled her always to enter heartily into any subject under discussion. She was fully in touch with the world around her—alive to her duty to her neighbors, and to her church. I will not speak of the tenderness which bound her to her home, but those who knew her best have often heard her speak of her happiness in the most sacred of all relations, that of wife and mother, and her gratitude to the Giver of all good. A devout and humble Christian, we can not doubt that she has been called up Higher.

In life's school, we are taught again and again how brief and uncertain is the tenure of our hold upon it. We say this thought, now so sadly brought home to us, make us more tender and loving with those with whom we come in daily contact. Let us "do all the good we can, in all the ways we can, as long as we can." May our lives be ceaseless aspirations after that which is highest and best.

"Build thee more stately mansions, O'er my soul, As the swift seasons roll! Leave thy low-vaulted past! Let each new temple nobler than the last, Shalt thou have from heaven with a dome more vast, Till thou at length art free; Leaving this outer shell, By time's untrusting sea."

DOWN IN THE MINES.

While the miners of the Western Kentucky district are of an industrious disposition, and willingly take the advantage of the opportunity of steady work when offered them, yet if we are allowed to form an opinion from expressions lately heard, they have this season had just a little more work than they want, but most of them take their medicine like men when they know the dollar is behind it.

Quite a number of the men who have this winter been given temporary employment by the St. Bernard Coal Company and other coal companies will, it is thought, be given permanent employment by said companies if business will permit.

A visit made to Halsey last week by President Atkinson, of the St. Bernard Coal Company, found Manager Robinson, of the Whitley Coal Company, feeling some better since he had the slides removed from their track, and he was again able to deliver coal on the market.

After weeks of illness, Foreman Summers, of the coke works, will soon be able to resume work, which will indeed be a great relief to Mr. D. M. Evans, who has felt called upon to spend much of his time looking after affairs there.

Foreman Toombs, of the St. Bernard Coal Company, is again the mason in charge of the repairs being made at the coke works some valuable help last week, by the making of an improved hoist for heavy rocks.

Rumor says that George Wyatt will soon be placed in charge of the machines and machine men in No. 11 mine, giving needed relief to Foreman John R. Evans, who has of late been an overworked man.

This will make the tonnage mined for the month of February even less than was anticipated would be the case, and will give the opportunity to dispose of all the coal that was on the way between the mines and the shipping ports or other destination, and also clear up the stocks at those points.—Coal Trade Journal.

We here reproduce two letters appearing in last issue of the United Mine Workers' Journal, touching upon the trouble between the Mt. Morgan Coal Company at Williamsburg, Kentucky, and the U. M. W., who once worked there. The letters both speak for themselves, and show plainly that U. M. W., S. F. Broughton, got terribly worried.

The Letter.
Woodsboro, Tenn., Jan. 30, 1899.
Dear Friend—I have been informed, you are working at the Mt. Morgan Mines, and as you are aware there is a lockout on your mines, as the coal company has discharged all their union miners.

I earnestly hope you will quit work until the trouble is settled, and if you need any assistance I will render you all I possibly can, and if you men will work I will pay your transportation to any union mines in this district. Just let Brother J. L. Holman know any time you need any assistance, and I will come down. Please let me hear from you by return mail.

Your friend,
S. F. BROUGHTON.

The Reply.
WILLIAMSBURG, KY., Feb. 18, 1899.

Dear Friend—I answer to your letter which I received from you, was surprised at your letter, which was asking me to cease work, when I have got advanced three cents on the ton of coal. As far as a lockout is concerned, we have no lockout here, and don't expect to have, and I think all the men here are capable of attending to their own business without your assistance. The southern which went off and claimed to be discharged went off and called us all kinds of blacklegs of the blackest dye. And so far as to cease working, we will not cease work as long as we can get paid as we have unless they re-employ those brothers which claim they were discharged. So far as the transportation is concerned we don't want any transportation, we have the money to pay our way anywhere we want to go and at any time we want to leave here. And so far as your assistance is concerned, we don't need it, or either the assistance of Brother J. L. Holman, and don't let me hear any more about your transportation or to cease work at Mount Morgan.

CALVIN HUBBARD.

Some good work was recently done at the Arnold mine by five men and a mule. In twelve hours they loaded in the mine and hauled it out and loaded same on railroad cars, fourteen hundred bushels of coal. By whom and where was this record broken.

A few months ago a visit to the coke works by those interested in the production of that fuel had the effect, when they cast their eyes on the vast piles of coke fast accumulating then, of making them feel blue indeed, but now what a contrast, when they view with pleasure the vacant space once occupied by coke, and the only drawback is their inability to fill all orders as they come rushing in.

One of the coal operators who was greatly worried last week was Secretary Bailey, of the Reinecke Coal Company, who was daily looking for a piece of machinery by express. The power of the machinery that at work was being overtaken, and he was afraid of a breakdown at any time.

If the following clipping from the Louisville Post is true, there does seem to be a move on foot to re-establish fair prices for coal, which is of vital importance to both operator and miner: "A number of the Western coal operators, who held a secret meeting at Seelbach's yesterday, continued their conference behind closed doors again today. Nothing would be given out as to what was being done in the meeting, but it is known that the coal men are laboring to perfect some plan which will put the coal business in the State on a better paying basis. Several times during the last two years efforts have been made to unite the coal men of the State together, but always the plan failed at the eleventh hour. This time it is hoped that the effort will be successful."

A new boiler and engine has been lately received by the St. Bernard Coal Company to be placed in position at the Arnold and other mines, where additional machinery is needed.

The breaking of a cage rope at the Monarch mines last week caused a loss of a day or two.

D. W. Umstead, mining engineer for the St. Bernard Coal Company, has been on the sick list for several days, but is now reported better.

In spite of the long hours and hard work done by W. F. Burr, Frank Arnold and Joe Mothershead, of the St. Bernard Coal Company's clerical force, they sometimes have to infringe on the Sabbath in order to keep up with the great increased business of late in their department.

A writer from one of the Philippine Islands says they have coal veins there from ten to twenty feet in thickness.

Mr. Rufe Clark, one of the "shooters" as they are called in the mines, says the holes drilled, tamped and shot by him and his able assistants, number about seventeen hundred per month for the last few months. A big increase over former years.

The Reinecke Coal Company had their boilers burned out Friday night last, and lost a day or so while making repairs.

This is from Boston:—"The statement is made that at no other time within the last thirty years has there been such a limited supply of coal in Boston. Never within this time have the prospects of obtaining more at once been so discouraging. Large manufacturing concerns are nearly out of soft coal."

"Echoes of the Storm."

The storm which swept over so large an area of the country during the week of February 4-5 was of more than passing interest from a coal-consuming point of view. All the Atlantic seaboard suffered greatly, and in fact from Ohio eastward there was cold and snow to an extent hitherto unknown in modern times. A great stimulus was given to the coal trade, and the dealers, as a whole, saw their stocks greatly depleted. At the same time there was a cessation of operations in the mining districts and an entire abandonment of freight trains on the lines of transit from the N. & W. northward, so that both hard and soft coal supplies were reduced in quantity. The Southern lines carrying soft coal got soonest out of the trouble they were in, but the lines to the Atlantic regions have had a protracted struggle. There was in many instances much coal standing in cars along the lines, but with many feet of snow around and above these cars, it took some time to get them in motion. The cold was so severe and the snow so heavy in the Atlantic regions that there was a total cessation of business at the majority of the mines, and they have hardly got back to normal conditions by this time.

This will make the tonnage mined for the month of February even less than was anticipated would be the case, and will give the opportunity to dispose of all the coal that was on the way between the mines and the shipping ports or other destination, and also clear up the stocks at those points.—Coal Trade Journal.

THIRD KENTUCKY

Regiment to be Recalled From Cuba and Disbanded.

Washington Dispatch to the Courier Journal.
Representative Wheeler presented to the Assistant Secretary of War to-day a petition from citizens of the First Kentucky district asking that the Third Kentucky Regiment be mustered out of the service. The Assistant Secretary told Mr. Wheeler that he thought it unnecessary to file the petition, as the regiment will shortly be given orders to return from Cuba and be disbanded.

A. R. De Flunt, editor of the Journal, Doylestown, Ohio, suffered for a number of years from rheumatism in his right shoulder and side. He says: "My right arm at times was entirely useless. I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and was surprised to receive relief almost immediately. The Pain Balm has been a constant companion of mine ever since and it never fails." For sale by St. Bernard Drug Store, Lexington, Ky. S. T. Robinson, Morton Gap; George King, St. Charles.

Lent.
From worldly things she turns her thoughts
And leaves the world behind,
For dresses really heavenly
Now occupy her mind.

W. S. McGary was in Seebree, Tuesday, on business.

Miss Claude Grammer visited in Madisonville this week.

County court convenes next Monday for regular monthly session.

Go to Assembly Hall tonight. Mrs. Bessie Swartz Cherry's recital.

Mr. Charles Etheridge, of Nashville, spent Sunday with the family of W. W. Etheridge.

Master Willie Etheridge returned Sunday from a visit of several weeks to relatives in Nashville.

Mrs. Frank Gianina and little son, of Providence, spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pike.

Mrs. Bessie Swartz Cherry gives a high grade recital at the Assembly Hall tonight for benefit of the public school. Hear her.

Henry King, of Henderson is out again this week doing some work on the electric plant and telephones.

Alien Indictment.
Marion Allen was indicted by the Hopkins County grand jury last week charged with maliciously shooting and wounding J. M. Fox at Nortonville. This reveals a case that was by some supposed to be closed by acquittal of Allen at the examining trial.

QUARTERMAN ACQUITTED.

Charge of Murder Could Not be Substantiated.

Andy T. Quarterman, the traveling barber, who while beating his way over the Henderson division of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Monday night, December 5th last, shot and killed Will Carr, of Howell, Ind., a brakeman on Conductor Joe Powers' crew, was acquitted of the charge of murder at the conclusion of the trial before the Hopkins county Circuit Court on Saturday last.

It will be remembered that Quarterman confessed guilt and made a clean breast of it to Special Agent Harlan, of the Louisville & Nashville and Marshal Barnett while they were taking him to jail.

Beyond Quarterman's confession the evidence was circumstantial, and the fact that Carr had an open knife clenched in his hand when he was brought to the surgeon's table, went far toward strengthening Quarterman's contention that he was being forced from a moving train at night and believed himself in danger of losing his life when he fired on Carr.

Quarterman's mother was present at the trial and left Madisonville Sunday morning. She was a well-to-do looking woman and seemed to possess some of this world's good. It is said that the attorneys who defended her son were well paid and there is a story afloat to the effect that Quarterman had run away from home when about sixteen years of age and his mother did not know of his whereabouts until after the killing.

This Beats 'Em.

The best cold weather story that has come to light since "Cold Monday" has reached THE BEE office this week through a truthful man who was near the scene at the time the incident occurred. A colored man living near Drakesboro, Ky., went out that coldest morning to feed his hogs. Answering his first whoop, the hogs left their resting place and made for their owner and his corn. But one good sized pig stopped at once and stood stock still. He continued to call to no effect. Finally he approached the pig and to his great surprise found he was frozen to death standing on his feet as natural as life.

Goes to Kansas.

Mr. W. R. Pratt, of Madisonville, goes to Independence, Kas., perhaps tonight, to make his future home. His family are at Waco, Tex., having gone there via New Orleans, where they visited relatives. They will remain at Waco until Mr. Pratt gets a home fixed and warmed for them. He has bought the only book and stationery business in that thriving town of four thousand inhabitants. This BEE wishes him the full measure of success.

Warning.

In a letter from John Spangler, of Terre Haute, Ind., he speaks a note of warning for his friends about Earlington. He says: "I hear some of the people of Hopkins County near Earlington, have been getting letters from Dr. Holoway, of Fisher, Ark., in regard to government land. Tell them to stay away, as all of the land is under water nearly all the season, and it is a scheme to make money. I know as we sent a man down to see and investigate."

INDICTMENTS.

The Hopkins County Grand Jury Makes Charges Against Insurance Companies.

Several Companies Withdrew From the County at Once.

The Hopkins County Grand Jury returned forty-three indictments against thirty-eight fire insurance companies doing business in Hopkins county, charging them with forming a trust or pool to fix rates, and prevent competition. A number of the companies affected telegraphed their agents at once to accept no more business in the county, and one company instructed its agents at Madisonville to write no business unless at doubled the present rates. Madisonville insurance men are of opinion that if the companies withdraw, and the present rate agreement is broken, insurance in that place will be sold at higher rates in the future with open competition than is now charged under the agreement. The local insurance men have been able to have rates made there based on a water supply and fire protection that the town does not possess. Fire insurance has not been written at such low rates for many years as are at present charged.

Wonderful Discovery.

LUNSFORD, ALA., April 15, 1898. New Spencer Medicine Co. Dear Sir:—I have been troubled with liver and stomach complaint. I had no appetite and my general health was very bad. I took medicine from four different doctors and they failed to do me any good. I got no relief until I began to use your valuable Nubian Tea. I used about two dollars worth of it, and it did me more good than all the medicine I ever took. I have gained thirty-five pounds in weight and my health is very good. I can sleep soundly and my appetite is excellent. I can recommend Planter's Nubian Tea to the world as being a God-send to any community. Any one who doubts this statement can write OSCAR BAKER, Sold by St. Bernard Drug Store.

WRECKS.

Things Went Wrong One Day on a Usually Fortunate Line.

Saturday was a stirring and a harassing day with railroad officials and men. Four wrecks were recorded on the Henderson division; one at Adams Station, one at Fort's, one at Goodlett's and the other at Seebree. At Adams, train No. 82, Gabreath conductor, DuBoisen engineer, was ditched by a misplaced switch and thirteen cars and the engine were off the track. The morning passenger trains each way were run around the wreck, going by Bowling Green, and the track was cleared in about six hours. In the afternoon the wreck at Seebree was caused by the returning pig train running into the rear of a freight. This caused no serious delay, but demolished a caboose and damaged an engine.

The freight train was No. 58, Rosser conductor. James Rioridan was engineer on the pig train.

The wreck at Fort's put six cars in the ditch on Conductor Baldwin's train. At Goodlett's there was insignificant trouble. It was an unusual tangle that was mean enough for awhile, but soon over. Outside agencies may have had to do with one of the wrecks.

Discovered by a Woman

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hammick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at St. Bernard Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Christian County Banks.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 25.—A special session of the Fiscal Court was held yesterday to consider an offer from the four local banks and the Pembroke Deposit Bank looking to a settlement of the claims for taxes alleged to be due the county for the years 1892 to 1898, the claims aggregating $14,000. The proposition of the banks was to settle on a basis of 50 per cent. Late in the afternoon the court, by a vote of 5 to 3, decided to reject the proposition.

Kentuckian Killed in a Skirmish.
Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 27.—Relatives were appraised to-day of the death of Charles D. Davis, one of the Hopkinsville soldiers on Luzon Island. He was shot in the leg by a Filipino, during a skirmish near Manila, and bled to death.

For quick and positive relief from a cold or cough, Dr. Sawyer's Wild Cherry and Tar has no equal. Try it and you will recommend it. For sale by St. Bernard Drugstore.

SHOT AT HIM.

Marshal Todd, of Madisonville, Has a Narrow Escape.

George Morrow, colored, is badly wanted in Madisonville on two charges, the last of which is for taking City Marshal Todd's revolver from him and shooting at that officer with his own weapon. Morrow who was wanted on a previous charge, has been living in Earlington recently, and a warrant for his arrest was sent out to Marshal Barnett, of this place. The latter discovered that Morrow was going to Madisonville horseback last Monday and, being very busy, concluded he would not lose the time necessary to accompany him to jail should he serve the warrant, but that he would let Morrow deliver himself to the officers there. So he telephoned to Marshal Todd and the latter met him in the edge of Madisonville, made him dismount and disarmed him. At the foot of the "big hill" the negro still protested he was not the man wanted and said he would go no further unless allowed to go to a house near by, where he could prove he was not the man Todd sought. At the house there was excitement among the colored family who lived there and while Marshal Todd held his revolver in his hand, Morrow succeeded in grabbing the weapon and wrenching it out of his hand, and then fired at Marshal Todd and fled, taking the revolver with him.

It is said that the marshal went out one door and the negro out the other. The ball passed about a foot above the officer's head and his life was saved by the fact that he knocked the weapon up. Mr. Todd will give a reward for the return of his revolver and the negro under arrest. While looking for Morrow the night after the escape Marshal Barnett caught two other men wanted on different charges in Madisonville but Morrow could not be found. Morrow has given the officers here no serious trouble during his stay in Earlington. He was arrested on one occasion by Cal Morgan upon trivial charge but he went with that officer peaceably.

Good for the Children.

Mrs. Eliza Hinson, of Hinton, Ala., writes us August 12th, 1898. "I advise all mothers to give their children Planter's Nubian Tea when they are puffy or fretful. I keep this medicine in the house and when the children are ailing I give them a dose and that is the last of it." Sold by St. Bernard Drug Store.

Tax Assessor's Books.

Elkton, Ky., Feb. 24.—The Assessor's books of this county have been completed and they show some interesting statistical history to-wit: Number of acres of land in the county 217,495; value at $1,876,383; number of pounds of tobacco 3,664,600; number bushels of wheat 162,326; number bushels of corn, 297,280; school children, 5,092. The increase in taxable property is over $100,000.

A Timely Hint.

You should be wise and see that your blood is rich and pure and your whole system put in a perfectly healthy condition by the use of Dr. Carlstedt's German Liver Powder. Then you will be free from malaria, typhoid fever, colds and the grip. Dr. Carlstedt's German Liver Powder is the best medicine money can buy. For sale by St. Bernard Drug Store.

For your Cold try Dr. Otto's Spruce Gum Balsam. Price 25c and 50c a bottle.

Tobacco Plant Beds.

Clarksville, Feb. 24.—The wet, frozen ground has hitherto prevented plant beds from being burnt, and a good many of the farmers in this locality are getting impatient. A few thrifty planters burnt last autumn, but the large majority of them must wait for dry weather. There is plenty of time yet, however, to raise plants abundantly large for the May setting.

Glorious News

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Wash. I. T. writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It is the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poison, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by St. Bernard Drugstore.

"It is noted as a striking evidence of the development of the country that the St. Louis World's Fair in 1903 calls for as much money in city, county, state and federal appropriations as the entire Louisiana purchase cost in 1803," so says the Nebraska State Journal. "Fifteen millions of dollars was a staggering sum in those days, but it will be spent now as a matter of course in an educational festival to commemorate the centennial."

Given Up by Four Doctors.

BEAVER DAM, Ohio. My daughter, after being treated by four doctors, was given up for lost, a neighbor recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. To-day she is able to walk several miles without fatigue. I feel we would have lost her, had it not been for your medicine. Respectfully, Mrs. J. M. Bailey, Campbell & Co.

As he beats the poor beast that is his control, Pray tell us, which brute is more worthy a soul—
The ass in the cart or the horse at the pole? —L. A. W. Bulletin.

Mrs. Minnie McAlpina, Mayfield, Ky., writes: Dr. A. M. Simmons Liver Medicine in the past 15 years has saved us many doctor's bills. I cured my baby of deep-seated colds, and prevented Pneumonia. I believe it a much better and stronger medicine than Black Draught.

Here is an amusing story from New London, Conn. A citizen visited a coal dealer in a hack and purchased a bag of coal and carried it home in the vehicle. It is not the man's custom to buy coal, but his supply gave out and it was necessary that he have fuel at once. He tried to get an expressman, but couldn't, and the hack offered a happy solution of the difficulty.

Pneumonia

is the quick agent of death. Fully one-third of recent deaths have been from pneumonia following a gripe. Pneumonia cannot follow the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. Campbell & Co.

A physician declares that people who sleep with their mouths shut live longest. It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at a drugstore there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. For sale by St. Bernard Drug Store, Earlington; B. T. Robinson, Mottons Gap; George King, St. Charles.

DEFENDING THE NATION.

Catarra is our country's enemy. Lagrippe, lung troubles and other diseases of the mucous membrane take hold of our people and fatal results follow with alarming frequency. All of these troubles are catarrhs, and cannot exist where the membranes are clean and healthy.

Mrs. Lou Davis, Fayetteville, Tenn., tells in her letter how Dr. Hartman's great catarrh remedy, Peruna, cured her of a gripe and serious lung complication. She says:

"I was afflicted with a disease commonly known as lagrippe two years ago; the doctors said I had consumption. I got one bottle of Peruna and the second night my cough stopped. I took several bottles, and I will say that I believe I would be a dead woman now if it had not been for Peruna."

Mary M. Pruitt, Palpa, Mo., says: Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

"I had a gripe for three successive years; it seemed to get a tighter hold on me each year. It seemed I was in the jaws of death. What had helped me before would not do me any good. I saw an advertisement of Peruna and I have not felt any symptom since. You may use this in any way you please."

ELECTRICITY.

Reinecke Coal Company to Run By Its Magic Power.

New Machinery to be Put in by That Company.

The Reinecke Coal Company, whose works are at Madisonville, have arranged to make radical changes in their plan of mine operations which they propose to effect as quickly as possible. Mr. I. Bailey, Secretary and General Manager of that company, says he has arranged to put in a new battery of boilers and electric machinery for mining and hauling the coal and lighting the mines. The present power is compressed air and this plant will be maintained also to use in case of emergency if any accident should occur with the electric plant.

Mr. Bailey thinks the new plant will be in order for complete operation in about four months and that his capacity for producing coal will be greatly increased thereby.

Chief-justice William L. Chambers, whose decision in the disputed kingship caused an uprising in Samoa, and almost brought about a collision between the German and English war vessels at that place, has furnished two pages of photographs of the current issue of HARPER'S WEEKLY. Among these is an especially fine group which represents the new king, Malietoa, surrounded by his guards.

WHY COUGH

Why cough and risk consumption, when the celebrated Dr. John W. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure you at once? It never fails to cure throat and lung troubles. For bronchitis, sore throat and hoarseness it is invaluable.

Will cure a Hoacking Cough.
